ABOUT FORBES 200 BEST UNDER A BILLION LIST-2011

The selection of the elite companies is based upon the growth in the sales and earnings in last 12 months and over 3 years. To qualify, the company must be public listed and should have annual revenues between USD 5 Million to USD 1 Billion. Essentially, the list of 2011 has the picks of the companies that have best managed through the economic volatility that began in 2008. Most of the selected companies navigated the global credit crunch with negligible debts on their balance sheets.
